Perioperative Management of Patients at Risk

This program will review special considerations for the dental anesthesia provider for the care of at risk patients, including those with substance use disorder, opiate use, obesity, and chronic disease. We will discuss medical and pharmacologic management of these patients as well as strategies for mitigating risk in the ambulatory setting. Perioperative management for patients with substance use disorder (SUD) will be reviewed, with specific focus on opioids, marijuana, and vaping. Additionally, we will discuss hypopneic hypoventilation, airway and anesthesia management of obese patients, and considerations for individuals with Parkinson's disease. In addition to providing up to date information on best practices for caring for these at risk patients, this program will fulfill New Jersey's state license renewal requirements for prescription opiate drug content.
